Effect of Electric Waves.

The question has been asked, "Does wireless cause explosions?" A well-known scientist recently suggested that the explosion which wrecked the British battleship, the Bulwark, might have been due to the influence of wireless waves. The theory that wireless causes explosions was put forward some time ago by a French engineer. To prove his point he called attention to the fact that the disaster to the British steamer, the Voltorno, which was burnt in the Atlantic, took place just on the junction point where the wireless waves from the Eiffel tower and Glace bay meet. The mysterious mine explosion at Senghenydd also occurred on the Clifden-Paris, wireless line.

The French engineer also points out that in his opinion wireless has a strange effect on the mind, and he considers that it is for this reason that collisions between ships have greatly increased of recent years. Many of these mishaps have taken place at the junction of the wireless wave routes, and it is said that the wireless so affected the brains of ships' commanders that in critical moments they lost control of their vessels. This theory is confirmed by the fact that birds flying near wireless stations move in an uneasy, agitated fashion, as if their senses were under some strange influence.

What We Eat.

If you are a person of average height, weight and appetite, and live to be 75, you will have eaten 54 tons of solid food and 53 tons of liquid. That is, about 1,300 times your own weight.

If you were to stack the bread you will have consumed in this number of years the pile would equal a fair-sized building. The amount of butter you will have used on this bread would come to a ton and a quarter. If you are a lover of bacon and were to stretch that which you have eaten out in single slices, four miles would be the length. Five tons of fish and 12,000 eggs would stand to your credit, while the normal cheese eater would easily have consumed 400 pounds. The vegetables you will have eaten would fill a train three miles long. You will have consumed some 10,000 pounds of sugar and 1,500 pounds of salt. If you are a smoker you will have used about a half-ton of tobacco in pipes, and will have smoked a million cigarettes.

Elevated Playground.

The largest elevated playground in the world will be in operation in New York this summer. The trestling, extending from the piers of the Williamsburg bridge, covers nearly 30,000 square feet of space, and the city engineers have arranged to turn this into account as a recreation park. It will contain a baseball ground, a bandstand, space for dancing, a park with real trees, growing at an elevation of nearly 30 feet above the street. This park will be a triumph of the city foraster's art, but it is believed that it will be perfectly practical, although the trees have not been planted long enough to test them. Soil between three and four feet deep has been provided. It has been demonstrated in other places that a number of good sized trees, including the hemlock, can be grown in earth of this depth. In addition to the trees, flowers and shrubs will be carefully cultivated in order that the people from the crowded tenement section, where the park is located, may have as much of the beauty of nature within their reach as pos-

Bowels are Basis of Child Health

The careful mother, who watches the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with child's constant good health is to keep the bowels regularly open. Sluggish bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder.

At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally. This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics, laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. Carrie McDonald, 1836 Trize Ave., Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Nellie E. Griffith, Veechdale, Ky., are always supplied with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative, for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work. Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by enclosing this notice to Dr. W. E. Caldwell, 1111 York St., Philadelphia, Pa. Your name and address on a separate card.

sible. The elevation will make this park cool and attractive in the summer, while it is expected that a part of it can be flooded next winter, so as to provide a skating place for the young people.
